UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

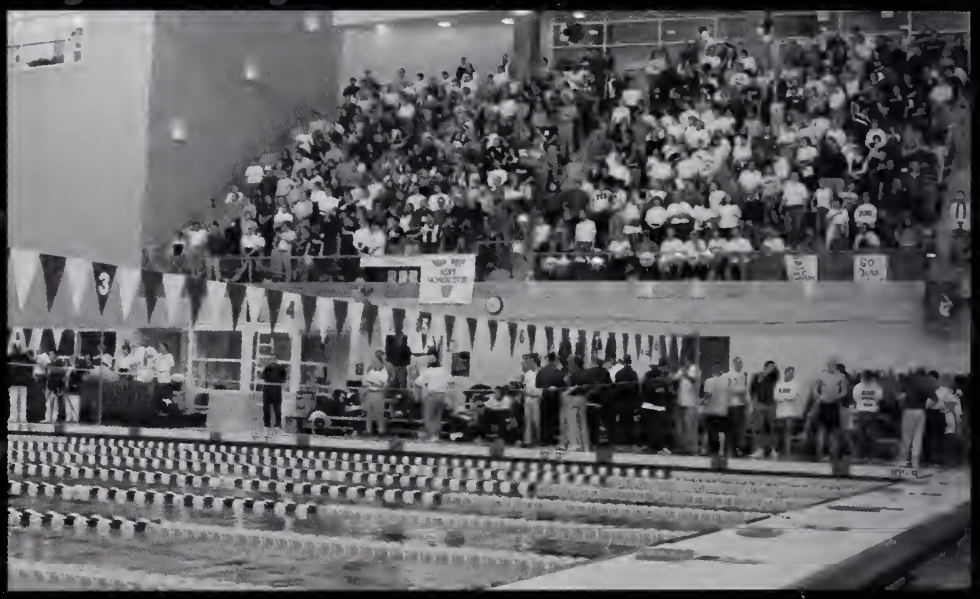
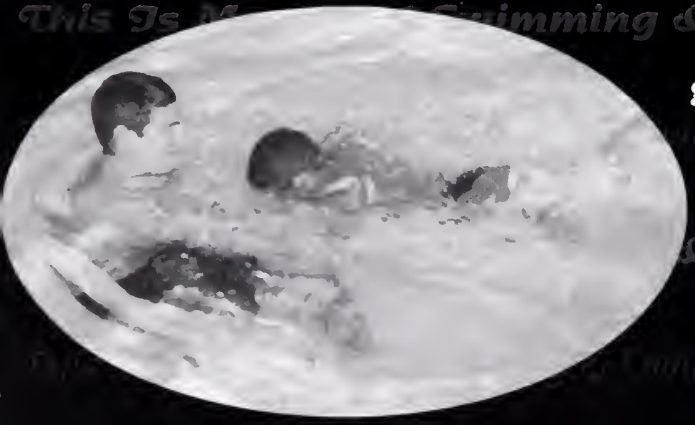
Maryland's Campus Recreation Center Natatorium was the home of the 1999 ACC Championships, shown here. The facility was packed for all sessions for great competition.





Maryland runs a great Learn To Swim Program with its teams. Brent Rademacher (left) and Bridget Mallon (right) are just two of the many Terps who take time to teach young swimmers.

Kim Piotro took home first place in the 200 freestyle in the 1998 and 1999 ACC Championships.

The Terps have a top-notch coaching staff. Here, assistant coach Mark Murray is giving guidance to honorable mention All-America Kelly Bowman.

Head Coach Jim Wenhold

Jim Wenhold is in his seventh season as the head coach of both the men's and women's swimming teams at the University of Maryland. Since becoming head coach in 1993, both the men's and women's teams have climbed up the ranks of the ACC.

Last year the women's team had its best season ever, compiling a 9-1 dual meet record (3-1 ACC). The Terrapin women are 48-17 since Wenhold became the head coach. In the past four seasons, their record is 36-7. Last season, the women's team recorded its highest finish ever at the ACC Championships when the Terps placed third, beating their previous high of fourth in 1998.

The men's team, meanwhile, has compiled a dual meet record of 38-27 since Wenhold took over the program. In the past four years, their record stands at 30-12.

Under Wenhold's leadership, several Terrapin athletes have flourished in the postseason. Last season was the second year in a row that both a male and female athlete won an individual event at the ACC Championships (Kevin Burke and Kim Piotro). Piotro captured her second straight championship in the 200-yard freestyle, while Burke was named the ACC Most Outstanding Diver and won the three-meter dive. Last season, four of Wenhold's female swimmers earned honorable mention All-American honors for their performance in the 400-yard freestyle relay at the NCAA Championships. In addition, Piotro, Jenna Hough, Carina Tennessen and Kevin Burke were all named to the All-ACC team last season.

Wenhold graduated magna cum laude from Maryland in 1985 with a degree in physical education. He was the captain of the swim team his junior and senior years and held the school records in the 100- and 200-yard backstroke as well as the 100-yard freestyle. At the 1985 ACC Championships, he placed fourth in the 100-yard backstroke.

In 1987, Wenhold received his master's degree in sports management from Maryland. During that time he was a student assistant coach for the Terps in the sprint events.

One year later, Wenhold became a full-time faculty member in the department of kinesiology. In addition, he coached the Retriever Aquatic Club from 1988-91. In 1991, Wenhold returned to Maryland to coach the sprinters while continuing in his faculty position. In 1993, he was elevated to head coach.

Wenhold is married to former Maryland swimming standout Amy Dilweg. The couple welcomed their daughter, Jaimy, into the world this past summer.

Assistant Coaches

Mark Murray
Assistant Coach

Mark Murray is in his second season as the full-time assistant coach at Maryland. Murray came to Maryland last year from Salem-Teikyo University (W.Va.), where he was the head coach from 1994-97.

In 1994, Murray was selected to be Salem-Teikyo's first head coach. During his first year at the helm, both the men's and women's teams went 1-9. By the time Murray was ready to depart for Maryland three years later, however, both teams were compiling 10-1 records. At the 1998 NCAA Division II Championships, Salem-Teikyo's men's team finished fourth, while the women's team finished 14th. Murray coached student-athletes at Salem-Teikyo to six national titles at the 1998 NCAA Division II Championships, and watched one of his swimmers be honored as the men's NCAA Division II Swimmer of the Year.

While at Salem-Teikyo, Murray's success did not go without notice. In 1996 and 1998, he was named the WVIAC (West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) men's Coach of the Year. In 1998, Murray was also named the WVIAC women's Coach of the Year.

Murray earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1988. He was a four-year varsity letterwinner and a two-year team captain on the Rams' swimming and diving team. In 1991, Murray earned his master's degree, also from Virginia Commonwealth, in sports management.

John Wolsh
Diving Coach

John Wolsh is in his fourth season as the diving coach for both the men's and women's teams at Maryland. Under his guidance, several Maryland divers have achieved national and regional success.

Diver Kevin Burke repeated as the ACC champion in the three-meter dive last season and was named the conference's Outstanding Diver of the Year. In 1998, Burke swept the one- and three-meter diving titles at the ACC Championships and was an honorable mention All-America selection at the NCAA Championships. Three other divers (Krista Irish, Courtenay Miller and Alyssa Anderson) have advanced to the NCAA Regional Diving Championships since Wolsh arrived at Maryland. Miller and Irish also placed in the top eight at the ACC meet.

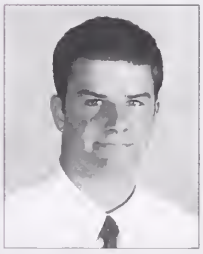
Wolsh was a four-year letterwinner for the Terps (1976-79). He finished second at the ACC meet as a freshman in both the one- and three-meter diving events and qualified for the NCAA Championships twice during his collegiate career.

He and his wife Lisa have two daughters, Cassandra (age 4) and Victoria (age 3), and a son Jackson, who was born in October 1999.

Chris Adams
Student Assistant

Chris Adams joins the coaching staff this year as a student assistant after finishing his Maryland career last season. Adams primarily swam the freestyle events for the Terps during his four-year career. A native of Trappe, Md., he is studying government and politics.

Matt Childs
Student Assistant



In his first year as a student assistant coach with the Terrapins, Matt Childs is coming off a stellar senior campaign. At the ACC Championships, he was part of the 200- and 400-yard medley relay teams that set school records. Individually, he finished 13th in the 100-yard freestyle. Childs' brother, Drew, is a junior for the Terrapins this season, and was also a part of the 200- and 400-yard medley relay teams which set school records. Childs was a team captain as a junior and senior. A native of Wallingford, Pa., he is a physical education major.

1999-2000 Maryland Swimming and Diving

1999-2000 Women's Preview

Sarah Solomon

Coming off its best season ever, the Maryland women's swimming team is looking to take it up a notch this year. With last season's 9-1 record to build on and only two letterwinners lost from last year's squad, the women's team seems poised to make an even bigger impact on the Atlantic Coast Conference this season.

The biggest loss for the Terps is two-time ACC champion Kim Piotro. Piotro won back-to-back titles in the 200-yard freestyle, making her the second Terrapin in women's swimming history to repeat as ACC champion.

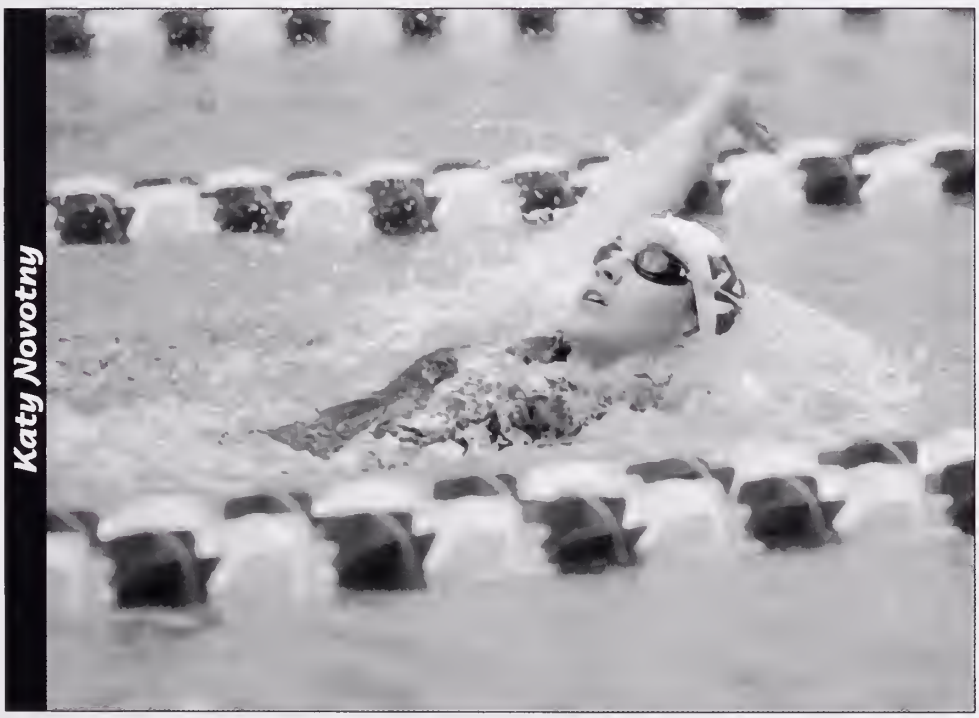
"Its always tough when you lose an athlete of Kim's caliber," comments head coach Jim Wenhold. "Kim was an excellent competitor and a strong leader by example, but it naturally happens in college athletics that people graduate and leave. We have a great incoming class, and with the leadership of swimmers like Jeannine Lloyd, Marie Tomarelli and Katy Novotny there's no reason why we shouldn't improve on last season's accomplishments."

Maryland returns three honorable mention All-Americans. Senior Sarah Solomon, junior Katy Novotny, and sophomore Kelly Bowman enter this season as the Terps' top returning point scorers.

Solomon, primarily a freestyle swimmer and butterfly swimmer, is in her final year with the Terps. The Silver Spring, Md. native swam in two individual and four relay events at last year's NCAA Championships.

"This is her last year and as a senior, we're really excited to see what she can do in her last go-around," says Wenhold of Solomon. "She should have a great year." Solomon has been one of the Terrapins' top three returning scorers since her freshman year and her time in the 100-yard butterfly (55.80) is the fastest time of any returning team member.

Katy Novotny returns for her junior season with three school records to her credit thus far. "Katy has been a great contributor to the program since her freshman year and looks to contribute heavily again this season," comments Wenhold. "She has an outstanding opportunity to score in the 100-free, 50-free and 100-back at NCAA's and will be a major competitor in the relays."



Katy Novotny

In her second year with the Terrapins, Bowman returns with the top times in the 500-yard freestyle (4:52.18), 200-yard freestyle (1:50.09) since the departure of Kim Piotro.

Wenhold looks for a strong sophomore campaign from Kelly Bowman. "Kelly had a great year as a freshman and just missed qualifying as an individual for NCAA's. She had a great season last year, and will be better in all freestyle events this season."

The trio is also part of the school record-holding relay teams in the 200-yard medley relay (1:43.49), the 400-yard medley relay (3:45.26) as well as the 200-yard freestyle (1:32.55) and 400-yard freestyle (3:21.21) relay.

After finishing third at the ACC Championships last year, Wenhold looks to move up again this season in both the conference and the nation. "We have good returning athletes and one of the best freshman recruiting classes, so it should be a successful season," says Wenhold of the upcoming season. "One of our goals is to move up in the national rankings, into the top 20."

Season Recap

Terps Ranked No. 24; Four Earn All-America Honors

The Maryland women's swimming & diving team enjoyed its most successful season ever while completing the regular season with its best overall winning percentage (.900), conference winning percentage (.750) and its highest finish at the ACC Championships (third). For the first time in the 21-year history of the program, the Terps were ranked in the College Swim Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) Top 25 Poll. The 9-1 Terrapins finished the season ranked No. 24, with a school-record four swimmers advancing to the NCAA Championships. All four earned honorable mention All-America honors for their performances.

Piotro, Bowman, Novotny, Solomon Earn Honorable Mention All-America

Senior Kim Piotro, junior Sarah Solomon, sophomore Katy Novotny, and freshman Kelly Bowman earned honorable mention All-America honors by virtue of their 15th place finish in the 200-yard freestyle relay at the NCAA Championships held March 18-20 in Athens, Ga. Their time was 1:33.53. The top eight finishers at the NCAA meet in both individual and relay events automatically earn All-America honors, and the next eight finishers are awarded honorable mention All-America status. Maryland placed 33rd at the NCAA Championships with four points. It marked the first time the Terps scored at the NCAA meet since 1992.

Piotro Repeats as ACC Champion in 200-Yard Freestyle

Senior Kim Piotro became just the second Terp ever to repeat as ACC champion in an individual event, as she captured the 200-yard freestyle title at the conference meet, held at the University of Maryland. Piotro's time of 1:48.40 topped her 1998 winning time by .05 seconds. Former Terp Courtenay Carr captured the one-meter diving title in 1986 and 1987, making Piotro the only Terp aside from Carr to repeat individually. Piotro's two career individual ACC titles represent the second-highest total in Maryland history, trailing only Carr, who won three career titles.

Maryland Records Highest Finish Ever at ACC Championships

Maryland recorded its best finish ever at the ACC Championship meet, when it placed third out of seven teams with 429 points. The Terps' previous best finish came in 1998, as it placed fourth with 391 points. The 429 points is the highest total Maryland has ever recorded at the conference meet. The previous record was 413, set at the 1988 ACC meet.

1999-2000 Maryland Swimming and Diving

1999-2000 Men's Preview

After coming off an 8-3 regular season record during the 1998-99 season, it is the Terps' 1-3 ACC record that Maryland will look to improve most this season.

"We have a great recruiting class and without a doubt a stronger team than last year," says head coach Jim Wenhold of the overall outlook for the Maryland men's swimming team.

The Terrapins came in sixth at the ACC Championships with a score of 315.0 in 1999. Senior Jason Ward was one of the strongest performers for the men's team at the ACC Championships, finishing fourth in the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke.

"Jason is entering his senior year and is just an outstanding individual," according to Wenhold. "He has been an academic All-American for three straight years. He has the whole student-athlete package. He is an excellent student and an excellent athlete ... our goal is to get him into the 100-breast for this year's NCAA's."

Jason Ward

Ward, primarily a breaststroker, returns with the top team time in the 100-yard breaststroke (55.38), the 200-yard breaststroke (2:02.04 and the 200-yard IM (1:53.05).

Juniors Drew Childs and Aaron Peterson return as the other two top scorers on this year's Terp squad. Childs has the top returning times in the 50-yard freestyle (20.38), 100-yard freestyle (45.10), and the 100-yard backstroke (49.72). He also competed on a number of Maryland's relay teams.

"Drew Childs had a great year last year. He will swim the 50-free, 100-free, and 100-back. Last year he also focused on the 200-back, and this year he will focus strictly on sprints," indicates Wenhold. "It will be exciting to see what he's going to be able to do focusing strictly on sprints in training."

Wenhold also believes that Peterson can be one of the top competitors in the butterfly this season. He enters the season with the top time in the 100-yard butterfly (48.40), as well as the second-best time in the 50-yard freestyle (20.40) and the 100-yard freestyle (45.18).

"One of the best 100-yard butterflyers in the conference, he swam a 44.14 freestyle split last year in the relay," says Wenhold. "He set all new career highs last season and has tremendous potential. He could have a year that puts him up among the nation's best."

The top trio also combined with Drew Childs' brother, Matt Childs, who is now a student assistant for the Terps, to set school records for the 200-yard medley relay (1:30.19) and the 400-yard medley relay (3:18.20), both at the ACC Championships. Drew Childs is also the current record holder in the 100-yard backstroke.

Account for the interesting ripple that P.J. Stajadinovic adds to the men's squad, and the Terps become a volatile component in the ACC mix. Stojadinovic made a huge impact on the distance freestyle events last year, despite his late arrival to the team.

"Last year, P.J. came to us in January and swam with very little training behind him for the dual meets and championships," commented Wenhold. "We're excited to see how much he improves when he is training harder. It's going to be an exciting year to see what P.J. can do."

Wenhold believes the best is yet to come for the men's team. "We should continue our rise in the conference. Our goals are to move up into the top half of the ACC and score points in the NCAA meet."

Terps Place Sixth at ACC Meet; Burke Named Most Outstanding Diver

The 1998-99 Maryland men's swimming & diving team placed sixth at the ACC Swimming & Diving Championships, which were held in College Park, Md., for the first time since 1966. Sophomore diver Kevin Burke won the three-meter ACC title and was named the ACC's Most Outstanding Diver for the second consecutive year. He also advanced to the NCAA Championships for the second year in a row.

Maryland Places Sixth at ACC Championships

Maryland hosted the men's ACC championships for the first time in 33 years, and turned in a sixth-place performance with 315 points. Sophomore diver Kevin Burke finished second to Andy Johnson of NC State in the one-meter competition (491.50 points), but came back and won the three-meter event (585.75 points). Burke edged out Johnson for the ACC's Most Outstanding Diver award. By being named the ACC meet's Most Outstanding Diver, sophomore Kevin Burke became the third Terp to win the award, and the first to win it two years in a row. Janika Biyanwila took the honors in 1987, and Mike Noonan was named the top diver of the 1991 meet. Last season, Burke swept both the one- and three-meter diving events at the ACC meet. Burke is now the eighth Terp to have captured at least three career ACC titles. Junior Jason Ward finished fourth in both the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke events with times of 55.38 and 2:02.04 respectively. Sophomore Drew Childs placed seventh in the 100-yard freestyle (45.10), and sophomore Aaron Peterson was sixth in the 100-yard butterfly. The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Drew Childs, senior Matt Childs, Peterson and junior Greg Courtois placed third with a time of 2:59.61.

Childs Breaks School Record in 100-Backstroke at ACC Meet

With a time of 49.72 seconds in the 100-yard backstroke at the ACC Championships, sophomore Drew Childs broke the school record in the 100-yard breaststroke. The old record of 49.73 seconds was set by former Terp Ryan Prosser in 1996. Childs placed ninth at this season's ACC meet.

Campus Recreation Center Natatorium

Home Of The Terps

Opened on Jan. 31, 1998, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium at the University of Maryland is one of the premier swimming and diving venues in the country. Featured in such national publications as Swim Technique and International Aquatics magazines, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium not only benefits the Maryland swimming and diving teams, but also the University of Maryland community itself.

The Campus Recreation Center Natatorium was part of the $40 million Campus Recreation Center. It features one 50x25-yard pool with two movable bulkheads and an underwater sound system. There are two one-meter diving boards and two three-meter diving platforms. The natatorium pool holds more than 1.5 million gallons of water.

With seating for more than 1,000 spectators, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium has played host to such national and regional events as the 1999 ACC Championships and the YMCA Nationals in the summer of 1999, 2000 and 2001. The 1999 and 2000 FINA World Cups will also be held at the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium, making it the focus of national and international attention during the championships.

In addition to the natatorium, the Campus Recreation Center also has fitness and weight-lifting equipment, indoor basketball and volleyball courts, and an indoor track. A large outdoor pool complements the Campus Recreation Center and Natatorium, finishing a facility that is one of a kind and can only be found at the University of Maryland.

University of Maryland

Leading the Way into the 21st Century

- A Carnegie Research-I University
- Member, Association of American Universities
- Flagship of the University System of Maryland
- Division I NCAA Athletics

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Ten years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.

President C.D. Mote

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining a 10 percent appropriations increase in his first year.

When the legislature had finished its work for the year, Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley. He arrived in College Park determined to continue the same level of achievement in his new post.

After earning his doctorate in engineering mechanics from Berkeley in 1963, Mote spent a year as a research fellow at the University of Birmingham in England, then three years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh before returning to Berkeley in 1967.

There he stayed for more than 30 years before coming to Maryland. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Maryland Terrapins

Among the Nation's Best

This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

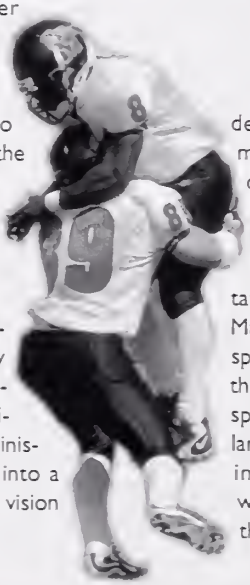
Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.



Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record five consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1998-99, as they posted their second consecutive Top 25 finish in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 to the No. 19 spot in 1997-98 was the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

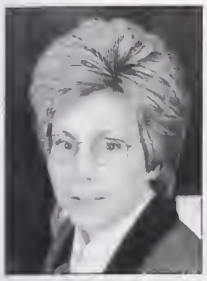
Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Yow to assume presidency of NACDA in July 2000

Dr. Deborah A. Yow has led Terrapin athletics to balanced budgets, high levels of productivity and achievement and a vigorous commitment to excellence throughout its operations. She is in her sixth year as Maryland's director of athletics.



Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all five of the more than $25 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years).
- Improved graduation rates for student-athletes, above that of the general student population, in three of those five years.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 10 percent of all NCAA Division I schools.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fundraising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 85% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer service in every area.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past five years, Debbie Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles.

Dr. Yow is a member of the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee. In addition, she will become president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000, and was recently singled out by Street & Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management, and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletics program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit, headed by assistant athletic director Demetrius Marlowe, is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

MAPS Directory

This directory, the Maryland Athletes Placement Source, is produced annually by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin their professional careers.

Distributed to more than 1,000 corporations and businesses around the region, prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resumé information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Career Information Fairs

Career Awareness in Academic Support is expanding to include a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the semester. Career awareness is an ongoing process and includes assistance with resume writing and interview skills. The end of the semester brings a career awareness fair which hosts a number of professionals with whom student-athletes can learn about career interests and planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen area of interest.

Team Maryland

Team Maryland is a class taught in conjunction with the campus' James McGregor Burns Academy of Leadership in which student-athletes are exposed to leadership and public speaking skills and techniques. The program consists of a group of volunteer student-athletes who learn about the challenges for children in the community by speaking to different elementary schools about drug abuse and the importance of education. In addition to school visits, Team Maryland has hosted visits from local schools to our campus.

Strength & Conditioning

In the highly competitive collegiate swimming & diving world of the '90s, the out-of-the-pool preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the in-pool success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, believes strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terrapins are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the United States. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the playing field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.
